The 1,780-metre high Mount Wank is a favourite destination for the whole family. The four-seater cabins whisk you to the summit terminal in around 20 minutes, where well-maintained trails in the high alpine terrain invite pleasure seekers and families to indulge in enjoyable walks. You can explore Mount Wank, for example, along the well signposted trails in a northerly direction towards Ameisenberg and Eckenberg. At the summit plateau, another trail leads in a south-easterly direction to Roßwank. The wrap-round views of the surrounding mountains are particularly impressive. This summit tour offers plenty of opportunity to stop for rests along the way, when you can savour the stunning panorama and “natural cinema” between Sonnenalm and Wankhaus. The sun terraces of the mountain restaurants also invite you to linger and forget about everyday life for a while, before the Wankbahn lifts whisk you comfortably back down to the valley.

Worth visiting

360° views extending over the Esterberg-, Ammer-, Karwendel- and Wetterstein mountains, down to Garmisch-Partenkirchen and the Loisachtal Valley, right up to the city limits of Munich.
